NATIONAL DAY : 14 JULY 1789

The date of the storming of the Bastille, July 14, is France's national day. This is an affirmation of the Republican and democratic values that have inspired the French tradition of opposition to oppression in all its forms since the "Declaration of the Rights of Man and of the Citizen" in1789.

NATIONAL ANTHEM : LA MARSEILLAISE

It has been written in 1792 by a military captain, Claude-Joseph Rouget de Lisle, as a war song to motivate his troops from Marseillle, on their way to Paris and the north eastern border of France where the new Republic was attacked by neighboring countries.

Many are often surprised by the warlike words of the “Marseillaise”.
